Introduction:

In the wake of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, it has become crucial for individuals and communities to take proactive measures to combat the virus's spread. Late G. N. Sapkal College of Engineering's NSS student volunteers recognized the need to contribute to this cause by organizing an online awareness campaign. The campaign aimed to educate and motivate people to follow safety guidelines and precautions to mitigate the spread of COVID-19.

Activities:

The NSS student volunteers organized and actively participated in the following activities during the campaign:

- Digital Poster and Banner Creation: NSS volunteers created eye-catching digital posters and banners containing essential COVID-19 awareness messages. These visuals were designed to convey important information about wearing masks, maintaining social distancing, hand hygiene, and vaccination.
- Awareness Videos: In addition to posters and banners, the volunteers also created informative and engaging awareness videos. These videos provided in-depth explanations of COVID-19 safety measures, showcased personal experiences, and featured expert advice.
- Social Media Outreach: The created posters, banners, and videos were widely shared on various social media platforms, including WhatsApp, Facebook, and others. The volunteers leveraged their personal networks and groups to ensure that the awareness messages reached a broad audience.

Impact:

The NSS awareness campaign, including the creation of awareness videos, had a profound impact:

- Comprehensive Information: The awareness videos provided detailed information on COVID-19 safety measures, enhancing viewers' understanding of the subject.
- Broad Reach: Videos, in particular, attracted a large audience on social media platforms, leading to increased awareness and engagement.

- Personal Touch: The combination of posters, banners, and videos, along with phone calls, allowed for a personalized and comprehensive approach to educating the community.

Challenges:

While the campaign was successful, some challenges were encountered:

- Resistance to Change: Some individuals remained resistant to following safety guidelines, despite the awareness efforts.
- Limited Resources: The campaign relied heavily on volunteers' personal resources for creating and sharing digital materials.

Conclusion:

The NSS student volunteers of Late G. N. Sapkal College of Engineering played a vital role in spreading awareness about COVID-19 through their online campaign, which included the creation of informative awareness videos. By utilizing digital posters, social media, personal phone calls, and videos, they were able to effectively reach and educate a broad audience. While challenges existed, the volunteers' dedication and efforts had a positive impact on their community.

This campaign serves as a shining example of the proactive role that students can play in raising awareness during challenging times. It reinforces the importance of collective responsibility in the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic.

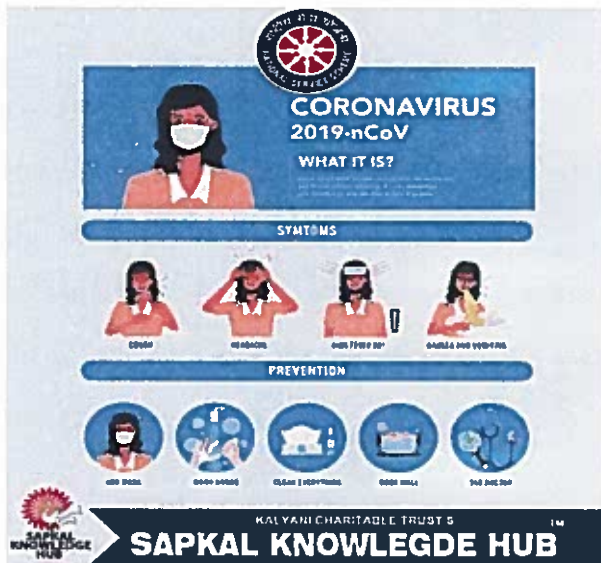

We extend our gratitude to all NSS volunteers who actively participated in this awareness campaign. Your commitment to the welfare of society is commendable, and your efforts have undoubtedly made a difference. We also thank the college administration for its support in organizing this campaign.
