Introduction:

The NSS unit of KCT's Late G. N. Sapkal College of Engineering embarked on a significant initiative to support the farmer community in Wadholi village by identifying potential avenues for additional income generation within the village itself. This report details the activities, findings, and potential recommendations based on a comprehensive entrepreneurship survey focused on the use and procurement of Organic Agarbatti & Dhoo sticks Made from cow dung.

Objective

The primary objective of the survey was to explore the feasibility of establishing a local Organic Agarbatti & Dhup manufacturing unit within Wadholi village. The goals included:

1. Assessing the demand for Organic Agarbatti & Dhoo sticks made from cow dung within the village.
2. Understanding the current procurement practices of these products.
3. Gauging the villagers' willingness to purchase locally manufactured "Agarbatti & Dhoo sticks."
4. Identifying potential benefits and challenges in setting up a local manufacturing unit.

Methodology

1. Survey Design: The survey was designed to collect qualitative and quantitative data on the usage and procurement of Organic Agarbatti & Dhoo sticks. Key questions included frequency of use, sources of purchase, expenditure, and willingness to buy locally produced items.

2. Data Collection: NSS volunteers visited each household in Wadholi village, engaging with residents through face-to-face interviews. The data collection spanned over a week, ensuring comprehensive coverage of the village population.

3. Data Analysis: The collected data was analyzed to identify patterns, preferences, and the overall demand for "Organic Agarbatti & Dhoo sticks."

Recommendations:

The detailed recommendation report was submitted to the Gram Panchayat based on the survey conducted by the students and discussions were also conducted with Village sarpanch and Gramsevak Officer regarding this entrepreneurship opportunity in the village.

Conclusion

The survey was conducted by the NSS unit of KCT's Late G. N. Sapkal College of Engineering has highlighted a promising opportunity for village-based entrepreneurship in Wadholi. The willingness of the villagers to support locally manufactured Organic Agarbatti & Dhoop sticks underscores the potential for a successful enterprise that can drive economic and social benefits for the community. By leveraging local resources and fostering community participation, Wadholi village can set a precedent for sustainable rural development.

The NSS unit extends its gratitude to the villagers of Wadholi for their cooperation and enthusiasm. Special thanks to the volunteers and faculty members who contributed to the successful execution of this survey. This report aims to provide a comprehensive overview of the survey and serve as a foundation for the next steps towards establishing a local Organic Agarbatti & Dhoop sticks manufacturing initiative in Wadholi village.
